

Reflections

What was an unexpected opportunity you've embraced, and what made it meaningful for you?

How did you recognize this opportunity as something that could help you grow or succeed?

What unexpected lessons or personal growth came from this opportunity?

How did seizing this opportunity change your perspective or future actions?